

Snow Day Survival

A day at a Platte County Community Center can cure cabin fever

Another storm is settling in and the snow drifts are rising. Once again, the schools are closed. Cure your child's cabin fever with a fun and entertaining day at one of the Platte County Community Centers.

Some of the activities available at the centers include:

- Open swim
- Open gym
- Use of the wellness floor for those who have completed a Tween/Teen Orientation
- Child Watch is open Monday-Saturday morning from 8a.m. to noon and Monday-Thursday from 4:15p.m. to 8:15 p.m.

A daily fee for families who may not be members but would like to have something to do for the day. The Platte County Community Center South was recently featured on NBC Action showcasing the different activities available to entertain the kids on a snow day. The story can be found at the following link:

http://www.nbcactionnews.com/news/local/story/Snow-Day-Forced-Kids-to-Find-a-Way-to-Have-Fun/B80Mfg_KBkipqGicMDQtHQ.csp

So when a storm is brewing, don't get stuck inside. Head to the Platte County Community Centers! For more information, call the North Center at (816) 858-0114 or the South Center at (816) 505-2622.

www.platteparks.com

